Donation of Solar Lanterns to Families Living in Areas without Electricity

Panasonic Manufacturing Philippines Corporation (PMPC) and the PEX Corporate Citizenship Department, as part of the LIGHT UP THE FUTURE campaign to light up the future of areas without electricity, have donated via two Philippine NPOs 500 solar lanterns to families living in areas without electricity in the suburbs of Manila.

The 200 lanterns donated to the NGO Angat Kabataan will be used to improve the educational level of children and raise incomes through mobile sales at night. The 300 lanterns donated to the NGO Our Lady of Light Parish will be used to raise income through stores for the Christmas mass and for farmers (dawn harvesting).

The donation ceremony held on December 12, 2022, at the NGO Our Lady of Light Parish was attended by PMPC President Kondo. Pastor Paolo, speaking on behalf of the NGO, said "We are grateful for your support to this community in need. With these solar lanterns, their homes will be lit up at night, allowing them to move about during the nighttime, which will be a great help." The donation of the solar lanterns to these families is expected to bring light to the night, lengthen the time children can spend studying, and help raise income through nighttime work.
