How Does It Work?

Low-sugar Rice in 3 Steps

Cooking process initiates as the Rice Cooker heats up. Rice in steam basket with water at the bottom.

Heat is evenly distributed and conducted through heat induction. Water boils, rice is flushed in the basket, and steamed.

Starch flows out and is separated by intense steam, achieving low sugar effect. Starch (sugar) in the rice is filtered out along with the water.

*Reduction rate is determined based on independent test results using certain types of rice.

nanoe™

Moisture-rich nanoe™ particles penetrate hair & tighten the cuticle, giving your hair gloss, silkiness and making it more manageable.

Moisture-rich nanoe™ moisturizes your scalp to keep it healthy, preventing the dryness that cause damage to hair.

Hair naturally tends to have a positive electrical charge that makes it stand on end. nanoe™ neutralizes the charge, reducing static electricity to settle your hair & make it smoother.
